Board Awards Contracts

Three incumbent CISD school board members have filed for re-election and three administrators have been awarded new contracts.

Board president Coleman Duncum and members Calvin Cobb and Hilliard Thomas filed last Thursday night at a regular session of Cameron Independent School District.

The Board approved new contracts for Alvis Fuquay, Yoe High School principal, with a $500 annual raise, elementary principal Don Wiggins with a $250 annual raise, and Odell Biggs, assistant principal. Biggs had received an increase in assuming his new post this school year, Supt. D. R. Dodson said.

Hired was Raynette Kosel, to add an additional English teacher at Yoe High School.

The board also called for bids, to be opened in a special meeting this Thursday, from meat processors on two types of bids: hamburger with a given percentage of lean and fat meat required, and meat for processing under school supervision itself.

And the board voted to include auxiliary personnel in the new wage and hour provisions retroactive to February 1. Auxiliary personnel include lunchroom and custodial personnel.

Board members discussed the litigation in the courts which is testing the rights of federal wage and hour controls in state and local government pay scales.

ESTATE GIFT BOOSTS LOCAL BLDG. FUNDS

Fund raising plans and building plans are being coordinated this week following announcement of a $500,000 Hill-Burton grant for St. Edward Hospital.

A gift of $1,000 from the estate of Miss Theresa Picha, formerly of Marak, was also announced as the first major contribution to the hospital building fund.

The $500,000 grant to St. Edward Hospital was one of 40 approved Sunday under the federal Hill-Burton program. It would cover half the cost of the proposed $1 million St. Edward facility. Sisters of Charity of Incarnate Word, the Catholic order which operates St. Edward Hospital, has pledged $250,000 to be matched by $250,000 to be raised locally.

Plans are to build the new 50-bed hospital adjoining the convent on the 8th and Crockett Streets corner of the St. Edward 11-acre property. It will be a one-story brick building and will include new x-ray and laboratory equipment in addition to recently purchased operating room equipment now in use.

The new hospital rooms will include adjoining bathrooms, piped-in oxygen, telephones and television.

The proposed building will replace the present three-floor, 34-bed hospital which was built in 1913.

The building fund was started last year after hopes for a new hospital were made public. Memorials and gifts from patients have been added to the fund, however Sister Kostka, hospital administrator, said a coordinated program to inform residents and former residents of the hospital plans and financial needs would be required now for a successful fund raising drive.

Sister Kostka said plans will be completed and they will be ready to start construction as soon as the required matching funds are raised.

Baptists To Host Music Festival

Choirs from an 80-church area will participate in a music festival at First Baptist Church, Cameron, next week. The festival will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 23, and is open to the public. The program will include both vocal and instrumental music.

Adult, junior, youth and primary choirs from Falls, Independence, Robertson and Milam Baptist Associations will be a part of the festival. Junior and youth choirs receiving superior ratings may enter the state music festival for judging.

Emmet Carson, music director for the First Baptist Church, Cameron, said the choirs will be judged and rated according to a standard rather than in competition with each other.

Each choir will present two songs which are the choice of the individual choir directors. Solos, duets and ensemble voices and piano solos are also scheduled for the music festival.

Heading the judges will be Dr. Ewell Porter of the Baylor University Music Department.

The annual music event is a program of the Baptist General Convention of Texas through the cooperation of the church music department. Last year 11 churches participated in the area festival.

NIGHT LIONS CLUB SIGNS 1st MEMBERS

An evening Lions Club took preliminary steps toward organizing Tuesday night with 13 of a required 20 charter members on the rolls. They elected Don Wiggins temporary chairman and Phil McCall, temporary secretary-treasurer.

Meeting with the group this week were Dr. John Martin, Lions Club zone chairman, Rev. Jim Lafferty, Cameron Lions Club president, and E. B. "Tex" Mayer of La Grange, committee chairman of extension.

The next meeting will be at 6:15 p.m. Thursday, February 22, at the Gelner Smokehouse for members and prospective members.

U.S. Court Upholds Matyastik Sentence

A U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has upheld the 4-year prison sentence given Paul John Matyastik of Cameron for failing to perform civilian work at Austin State Hospital in lieu of military service.

Matyastik, a conscientious objector, was convicted by a federal court in Austin, in November 1966, of violating the Selective Service laws after he failed to report for work at the Austin hospital for two years as ordered by the Cameron Draft Board.

MILAM DRAWS 3 WILDCATS, 4TH POSSIBLE

By Lloyd Albertson

Milam County had three new wildcats scheduled early this week, and there were strong rumors that a fourth wildcat, to be an Edwards Lime test, also was set for the Milbur Field area.

Rains and boggy grounds also have two other earlier scheduled wildcats unable to start drilling operations.

Location for one of the new wildcats has been staked on the J. L. Lampkin 177 acre tract in the Lee R. Davis Survey several miles southeast of Cameron. Two Houston oilmen, C. T. Grubbs and McAlpin, are drilling this wildcat, which is a Navarro try scheduled to around 1,900 feet. Calvin Hunt is driller on the Lamkin.

Drillsite location is between the Santa Fe Railroad line and Highway 36 and near the Hanover road. It is about one-fourth mile from two shallow wells drilled recently by Ombre Oil Company on the Bickett Estate tract.

R. L. Hill, an Austin operator, will drill a 1,000 foot wildcat in north Milam on the Walter Scarborough 231 acre lease in Samuel Frost Survey. Location is only 467 feet off the Milam - Falls County line and one mile south of Wilderville. It will have the Anacacho as its objective, a new formation to be tested in the county.

In South Milam the Houston Petroleum Corporation has staked a location on the 118 acre John V. Kohut tract in James Shields Survey. It is in the Milbur Field area and will be a Basal Wilcox test permitted to 3,000 feet.

The rumored Edwards Lime test also will be located in that area. Drillsite will be on the Blackburn - Trammell 126.07 acre lease in the Smith Vincent Survey. Permit depth will be around 6,300 feet.

The Cameron School Board was discussing the relative merits of buying hamburger for lunchrooms or buying carcasses for processing.

Discussion went on a considerable time early in the Thursday meeting, ending with a vote to call for bids on both types of purchasing.

Near the end of the discussion, Coleman Duncum, board chairman said: "Well, we shot the bull for 45 minutes."

Someone else chimed in: "Literally."

Announcement of the $500,000 Hill-Burton grant to St. Edward's just about cycles local community development.

That grant, plus the downtown planning program, plus the housing program (with center) plus, TP&L's street lighting program plus, the announcement of SW Bell's direct distance dialing plus, incorporation of Somerville in Lone Star Gas' Cameron District plus, the expansion at Walled Lake Door plus, the addition of land for new industrial prospects, plus the expansion of Newton Hospital, plus . . . well, you name some of your own we may have excepted.

If broad figures are of any value, including what is beginning to happen downtown, streets, et al, there is likely to be about $3.5 million in known new construction here during the next two years.

Kudos to a town that got up and got.

Looking Ahead . . .

Burlington First Irish

By Jan Luecke

The North Milam community of Burlington is looking ahead, but can recall a colorful past of the first Irish settlement in Milam County.

John Jones and his brother, Michael, a railroad worker, first built homes there in 1870. They were log cabins, without windows.

The rich, black soil awaited development and the two men sent for 30 of their countrymen.

In the late 1880s, the railroad, now the Southern Pacific line between Rosebud and Cameron, was built. But trains did not stop until R. H. Waters, a Burlington rancher, won election to the Texas Legislature and pushed through a bill compelling stopovers.

What John Jones started from a log cabin became a cattle center a generation later. Large herds of longhorns loaded at Burlington for shipment to Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City.

FIRST NAME

It was truly The Irish Settlement in the early years. And that was the community's first name. Mail went to Waterford, about a mile and one-half west. Natural confusion of Waterford with Weatherford later caused the moving of the post office to The Irish Settlement. And the town was named Burlington.

Tom Gleason was the first postmaster and later served as railroad agent.

In the founding days, the early Irish settlers built their homes and a Catholic church. When it was completed, the residents requested that a priest be sent to serve there. The Bishop was surprised because priests usually go to communities to build churches.

It was the first church, which was destroyed by a storm in the early 1900s. A Baptist church was built in 1907 and a Lutheran church in 1916.

Burlington by 1907 was mapped out with streets and street numbers, but it never incorporated.

The population that year was 500. The business district included four gins, an oil mill, a bank, newspaper, four blacksmith shops, a lumber yard, two hotels, three hardware stores, a drug store, several dry goods stores, three doctors and eight saloons. The latter were all on one side of the main street, which in that day was avoided by ladies.

Laws were strictly enforced. When the local jail was full, offenders were shackled to posts along the street.

"The Irish were not good farmers," he points out. "They liked to be with the public and did not adapt to pioneer ways, where the whole family worked to build a farm. When the railroad came in 1892, they started moving to the cities. They sold their land to the Germans who prospered in that good blackland."

O'Neill's father was one of the early teachers in Burlington. He was educated at Notre Dame and settled in Milam while working his way to South America.

The Catholic Church maintained the only school in the area for many years. Children of all religions were taught there until public schools were established.

It was the first "wet" town south of St. Louis, Mo. Travelers bearing empty suitcases from as far north as the Missouri city arrived daily on the train. There was lots of business, but little trouble in Burlington as the visitors arrived on the 7 p.m. southbound and left on the 8:30 p.m. northbound, just enough time to fill their suitcases and buy tickets north. Trains leaving Burlington were said to be so crowded they had to stop before reaching Waco to allow time to take up all the tickets.

Local Model-T taxis also were busy running passengers from the train station in Rosebud and back each day.

And with its history, Burlington has the "luck of the Irish" to call upon.

Dinner To Kick - Off Plans For Buckholts Community Center

A Kick-Off Dinner will be held in Buckholts for the proposed community center Monday night, Feb. 26, at 7 p.m., in the Buckholts School Gymnasium.

The program will begin with a "pot-luck" supper, and everyone attending is asked to bring one meat and a vegetable or dessert.

The after dinner program will include music by Yoe High School students, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will present a program on community improvement.

Buckholts area residents have been urged to attend this supper and learn just what the community center will be able to offer Buckholts.

'HOOKED' BY THE HORNS — Wayne Kirk signs letter of intent with University of Texas representative Fred Akers as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Kirk look on. Sister Paula joins UT fans with the sign of the horns. Kirk was All - District Yoemen back this year and a state 3rd place winner in the AA shotput competition. He was chosen 1967 Outstanding Yoeman.

SIGNS LETTER, TOO — Glenn Fogle, all - district quarterback, signs a University of Texas letter of intent. Looking on are, from left, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Fogle, his parents; U of T rep. Fred Akers; and YHS headcoach Ken Fuqua. Fogle and Wayne Kirk both signed letters of intent with Texas this week, the fourth Yoemen in four years to go to the Austin campus.

Lack Of Communication . . .

Criticism precedes or follows lack of communication. Count on it.

Men want the combat of contention. It is harder to understand the contention of reason, which is far more deadly. Few, practically none, understand the latter. Texans enjoy contention of the open kind, true to their background of the open life, the hard life, the honest life. And many settle arguments, beyond reason, denying the better elements of this background.

A senior criticizes a junior because he sees the junior tend toward the same, or similar, mistakes (as he, the junior and human, must) made by the senior.

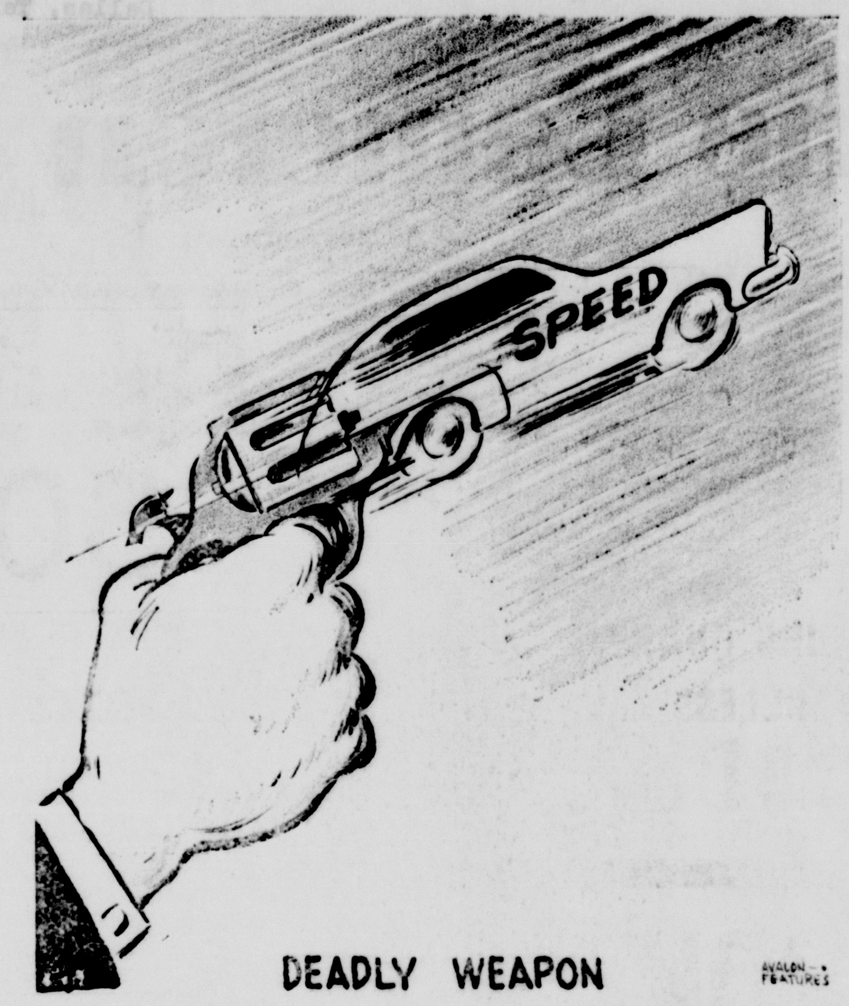
The younger listens, believing this a virtue, but is criticized for silence.

Debate is of little interest among the hyperactive. Perhaps that is why Texas, as a Rutgers' professor of anthropology this week points out, leads the world in the God-like judgment, but the un-Godly reason of killing.

Criticism is better than such finality. Words won't maim. But true words enjoy a trajectory and range beyond belief.

What counts, though, is what follows criticism or lack of communication due to contention.

It is often progress of a real kind.



What Others Say . .
Fade Out . .

The newsreel is about to land on the floor of the great cutting room in the sky and it's cause of a quiet tear. Metrotone is closing out and Universal fade (d) . . . and that's all there is, there isn't any more. It's too bad.

Newsreel was never any great shakes as journalism. The machinery was simply too cumbersome to be on hand when news actually happened. No, newsreel must properly be thought of as a minor art form, rather like the commedia dell'arte, which it greatly resembled. The essence of both was the constant recurrence of the expected turn.

The diver always followed a graceful arc to the water, which always splashed out, then de - splashed back while the diver hurtled upwards to the board again. The horses always pounded down the track, seen from a low angle. Kaiser Wilhelm always chopped down that tree on his birthday. Mussolini always thrust out his great chin while the crowd yelled, "Duce!" . . .

So it went, the predictable, expected turn, the great persons of the world placed in decent, human perspective, curtain - raisers to the comic originality of Lew Lehr.

If Lew believed his dictum that monkeys are the cwaziest people, he was wrong. People are, for letting die such a lovely bit of foolishness as the newsreel.

Candidates Square Off For Action-Packed May 4

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Eleven Democratic and three Republican candidates for governor squared off for an action-packed May 4 primary election as filing deadline closed last week.

Most of the interest centers in the gubernatorial contest. Only one Democratic incumbent in statewide office, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, has primary opposition. The lieutenant governor's office and two Supreme Court places being vacated by incumbents are contested by Democrats.

While Republicans provided candidates for all statewide offices except judicial, only in the governor's column is there a GOP primary race. The rest are unopposed.

DEMOCRATIC

Lieutenant Governor - House Speaker Ben Barnes of DeLeon; Rep. Don Gladden and Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth.

Comptroller - Robert S. Calvert and Dallas Blankenship, Paris.

Supreme Court, Place 2 - Tom Reavley of Austin and James G. Denton of Amarillo.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Agriculture Commissioner John White, Treasurer Jesse James, Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon, Supreme Court Associate Justice Zollie Steakley, Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. A. Morrison and Leon Douglas, a candidate for the Court of Criminal Appeals have no Democratic opposition.

REPUBLICAN

Republican candidates with no primary opposition are: Lieutenant Governor - Douglas DeCluitt of Waco; Atty. Gen. - Sproesser Wynn of Fort Worth; Treasurer - Manuel Sanchez of Brownsville; Comptroller - John Bennett, San Antonio; Agriculture Commissioner - E. H. Schuhart of Dalhart; Land Commissioner - Millard Neptune of New Ulm; and Railroad Commissioner - Jim Segrest of San Antonio.

DRINK BATTLE RENEWED

Gov. John Connally told a press conference that he may renew his effort to strengthen state liquor laws and legalize and tax liquor by the drink at the special session of the Legislature he must call this year.

Connally said the liquor proposal he made in 1967, which was killed by the Legislature, may well be a part of his program for raising the $150 million to $190 million the $150 to $190 million which will be needed to operate state government next year.

He renewed his attack on the "subterfuge" of the private club, and said that his efforts in 1967 to tighten up the liquor law were opposed by some who now profess to be shocked at the shortcomings of the liquor laws.

But Connally said he has not yet decided when to call the Legislature back to Austin. Speculation is that the session will be in June, after the primaries.

He suggested that if the liquor issue is not handled by the first special session, he might call another session to work on it. He also announced that he wants a strong conflict of interest law to prohibit any member of the Legislature from practice before any state agency.

MIGRANT EDUCATION

Migrant education will get a $6,300,000 federal boost in the next six months, if State Board of Education preliminary plans are carried out.

Board also agreed to widening federal aid application due to congressional action which increases U.S. funds available in Texas for 1967-68 from $3,900,000 to $10,300,000. While program now is limited to children whose parents were in the "migrant stream" when school started, it will in future cover those whose parents left itinerant agricultural work up to five years earlier.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court agreed with lower court verdicts that a 76-year-old San Antonio man, who was pardoned after being sentenced to death in the electric chair, should get $20,000 in false imprisonment compensation. Catch is the governor last year vetoed appropriation set aside by the Legislature to pay the oldtimer, Anastacio Vargas.

High court also upheld the jury award of $75,000 to owners of property condemned by city of San Marcos to expand Southwest Texas State College.

Third Court of Civil Appeals affirmed a ruling that the 1963 law limiting state-licensed lenders to 60 offices is constitutional and denied the request of a Midland-based finance company for license of its 61st Texas office. Court said the firm is in poor position to attack constitutionality of an act which permits "the privilege of making loans at rates of interest which would be and are usurious and illegal to lenders not licensed."

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Attorney General Martin has held that the state comptroller cannot make payments on state building contracts which exceed appropriated funds and must certify sufficient money is available to cover project.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that:

—State depository board may accept both guaranteed "preliminary notes issued by public housing authorities" and "participation certificates" of Federal National Mortgage Association as collateral for state deposits.

—Second or alternate retirement program may be established for state - supported college and university employees.

Old Philosopher –

Dear editar:

Although it's gotten to a point where a man opens his newspaper these days wondering. Well, what new place in the world did trouble break out in last night, I screwed up my courage and opened a copy of a paper a magazine salesman dropped out here while getting in his car one jump ahead of my dog. Understand, I've got nothing against magazine salesmen, the difficulty was between him and my dog and I don't take responsibility for the attitudes of my dog, any more than Frenchmen are responsible for what De Gaulle says.

After checking the latest reports on Viet Nam, Hanoi, Greece Egypt, Israel, North Korea, England and New Hampshire, I noticed a smaller item which reported that the Secretary of the United Nations, U. Thant, said that "1967 produced more crises than any other year in history."

What the United Nations ought to do is buy Mr. Thant a new adding machine.

Take any year, it doesn't matter which one, and if you check up on it closely enough you'll find it produced more crises than any other year, provided you check on it while it's fresh in your mind.

This is just the second month, but 1968 already has produced more crises than 1967, with 10 more months to go and 1969 still to come.

It's gotten so that a country that can't produce at least one crisis a week just isn't trying. De Gaulle used to do better than that, but lately he's been crowded out. He doesn't know that if you can't produce a brand new one now and then, using the old ones over and over gets tiresome. You get to feeling sorry for France when some little country like Viet Nam no bigger than the state of Florida can beat her off the front page weeks on end. In the crisis race, Viet Nam wins as consistently as the Green Bay Packers.

I'll tell you, if man doesn't learn to ration his crises, string them out instead of having one on top of another, nobody is going to take them seriously, which would be a crisis of a different sort.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

The above is to be greatly desired in all public schools but the greater consideration is the general atmosphere and attitudes prevailing in our school system. That thing of public relations within and without the school system must stand on the higher plane if we are to do for the students what should be done for our younger folks.

It is our judgment and firm belief that our schools today are in most excellent condition in every respect.

And please let me say here and now we feel few persons really know and appreciate in the fullest degree the sacrifices made by those citizens and patriots who serve on our school board. Few of us know of the labor of love and honest toil done by the Superintendent, the administrative staff, faculty, bus drivers, cafeteria workers and custodians.

My plea to every citizen and patron of our public schools is that you make it your business to seek out and commend in the warmest terms every person having a part in the affairs of our schools with a very special portion going to those school board patriots.

Very respectively Sir,

C. R. (Roy) Law

Dear Mr. Luecke:

Just today I received a notice from the District Engineer in Fort Worth, advising that a public hearing will be held in the Community Building in San Gabriel Park, Georgetown, Texas, at 9:00 a.m. on March 5th. At this hearing all of the interested parties will be given an opportunity to express their views concerning the proposed work on the Laneport and the North Fork Reservoirs. Oral statements will be heard but it is requested that in order that there be an accurate record, that all facts and statements should be in writing in five copies.

In my judgment, these reservoirs are of far greater importance to Milam County than they are to Williamson County, I think that they will, when constructed, just about complete the needed protection of both the San Gabriel and Little River bottoms through Milam County. I believe that they are essential to the ultimate development of the widespread irrigation which I have long envisioned in Milam County.

I think it is fair to assume that these structures have been delayed at least ten or fifteen years by the inability of our friends upstream to agree on any priority of construction. It has always been my contention that these structures should be authorized to be built in the order of priority determined by the Corps of Army Engineers, just as were the structures on the Leon, Lampasas, Bosque and Brazos.

I believe that it is of such importance to the people of Milam County that I would want to urge substantial well-informed delegations to attend this public hearing in Georgetown. I hope that our people will feel inclined to recommend both construction of any and all of these structures in the order of prior approved by the Corps of Army Engineers. In his way, it seems to me that we can hope to get the maximum protection at the earliest possible date.

Thanking you, and with best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
W. R. Poage, Congressman

IRS Questions

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Is it true you can now deduct onehalf of your medical insurance premiums even if you don't itemize your deductions?

A — No, that is not the way this new provision works. Onehalf of the premiums paid for medical insurance up to a maximum of 7150 can now be deducted without regard to the 3 percent of income limitation on medical expenses, but only when the taxpayer itemizes his deductions. The balance is included with other medical expenses subject to the 3 percent rule.

Previously, the entire amount of these insurance premiums had to be included with the taxpayer's other medical expenses and only the amount of the total in excess of 3 percent of income could be deducted.

Procedures for handling medical expenses are described in the 1040 instructions. Be sure to read them carefully before starting on your 1967 return.

Q — If I file my return now, how long will it take to get my refund?

A — The normal processing cycle for refunds is 5-6 weeks if the return is accurate and complete. Since you live in the Austin District (south Texas), you should mail your refund return in the special envelope provided, or address it to: Internal Revenue Service Center, Southwest Region, Austin, Texas 78740.

To avoid delays, be sure your Social Security number is entered accurately, all W-2 forms are attached, and the return is signed. Both husband and wife should sign if it is a joint return. Where the wife has income, her Social Security number and W-2 forms must be included.

Q — Is there any tax on Social Security benefits?

A — No, these benefits are not subject to Federal tax.

Q — What is the purpose of the gas tax tables in the 1040 instructions? I thought you could just deduct 10 cents a mile for use of your car.

A — The gas tax tables provide a convenient method taxpayers can use to determine how much they can deduct for state gasoline tax for the personal use of a car. The 10 cents per mile figure you mentioned only applies to the business use of a car.

Q— What should I do with the statement I got from my savings bank showing the interest I earned? Does it have to be filed with my return like a W-2?

A — The Form 1099 you received is the bank's report to you as to the amount of interest you earned. Use the amount shown on the statement when you report your interest income for the year adding it to interest earned from other sources.

You do not have to file your copy of the 1099 with your tax return.

Q — I'm a teacher and took some summer courses last year. Will these be deductible for me?

A — The courses will be deductibl if the primary reason you took them was: (1) for the purpose of maintaining or improving your present teaching skills, or (2) expressly required by your employer to maintain your salary, status or job.

Q — What do you mean by cost basis? I just sold my home and want to figure out whether I have any profit to report.

A — The cost of the house to you would be the initial purchase price plus the cost of permanent improvements you have made, purchase commissions, title fees and the like, less any deferred gain on a home previously sold. From your selling price you can deduct selling commissions, advertising fees and similar costs incurred in selling the property.

Giddings Takes Both Yoe Teams In Tuesday Tilt

The Cameron Yoemen varsity and B teams both fell to the Giddings Buffaloes Tuesday night. The varsity score was 68-40, while the junior varsity final was 70-50.

In varsity competition, first quarter battles revealed a Buff lead, 21-14. This expanded to 38-24 by half time and had developed into a 58-30 tally by the finish of the third period. Final buzzer showed a 68-40 Buff win.

JUNIOR VARSITY PLAY

In the junior varsity contest, the Buffaloes flew into the lead and kept it. Their 25-7 first period lead had extended to 39-21 by half time. Third period play saw valiant Yoe efforts fail as the lead reached 55-28. Fourth quarter play developed the final 70-50 score.

In individual scoring for the Yoe men, Robert Brashear was tops with 14 points, Johnny Steamer 9, Kenneth McLerran 7, John Black 5, James Mueck and Jerry and Ronnie Richardson 4 each, and Norman Trubee 3.

Yoemen Tops In Hornet Clash

By Fritz Pratt

The Cameron Yoemen downed the Caldwell Hornets in both varsity and B team play. The Yoemen revealed hot streaks in both games.

In the varsity game, the Yoemen led most of the way, except at the end of the first quarter, when the score was 17-16, Hornet's favor.

The second quarter gave the Yoe team time to battle ahead, and its finish saw a 43-35 Yoe lead. Third period play allowed the Yoemen a chance to build their lead, but the Hornets bravely hung on.

At the start of the final quarter, the Yoemen led 61-51. When the game ended the Yoemen had shattered Hornet defenses and blew the game apart with field goal upon field goal.

Final score was a Yoe High team record for the Yoemen as they had piled up 88 points to Caldwell's 72.

On the scoring roster, Wayne Kirk took top honors with a sparkling performance, not only with shooting, but with a flashing rebound game. Kirk compiled 34 points for the night.

Closest to him, riding an unbeatable hot streak, was Mike Miller with 20. Others in the double figure scoring for the Yoemen were Tommy Terrell, who couldn't get shooting until the final quarter, 12, and rebounding Glenn Fogle with 11. Charles Maddox was next highest with 9, and Dennis Chapman 2.

The Cameron squad hit an amazing free throw percentage of 89. This is always a big factor in winning a game. The Yoemen tabbed off 19 fouls.

ROGERS SCHOLARSHIP — A donation by citizens of Rogers for Texas A&M opportunity awards presented seven Rogers High graduates will become a scholarship itself. The unusual presentation to Dorsey E. McCrory (left), development director, was made by Darwin R. Schwertner and Travis Rosson, Rogers school officials.

Scholarship Says Rogers 'Thanks'

COLLEGE STATION

Rogers, a Central Texas town of 1,000 population, has seven of its high school graduates attending Texas A&M University on opportunity award scholarships.

Citizens of the Bell County community 11 miles southeast of Temple decided recognition was in order. A presentation was made to A&M's student aid office.

A plaque and $200 check were presented by Darwin R. Schwertner and Travis Rosson, Rogers school officials, to Development Director Dorsey E. McCrory and Robert M. Logan, student aid director.

McCrory said the donation will become a Rogers Schools Scholarship.

"The presentation is in appreciation of opportunity awards A&M has made available to Rogers area boys in recent years," noted Schwertner, principal of the town's elementary school.

"Our youth have won other scholarships from businesses and other areas," pointed out Rosson, school counselor. "These were the first from a college itself."

Also freshmen Edwin A. Smith III, agricultural education; Kenneth L. Doskocil, math; and Robert J. Trampota, education.

"They are doing well," Logan said of their academic work.

"We felt something could be done in return," Schwertner commented. "You don't realize what these scholarships mean to our high school."

Rosson indicated many Rogers citizens contributed, including numerous Texas A&M graduates. Schwertner studied business, graduating in 1946. Merka received bachelor and master's degrees in agricultural education, graduating in 1934. A 1955 graduate, Donald Godwin, coached Rogers to the Class A Football semifinals last fall.

"Some University of Texas and Baylor graduates pitched in too," Schwertner noted.

Logan said the plaque containing Rogers school officials names and a statement of the presentation's meaning will be displayed in the student aid office.

"This check does not represent our feeling but is only a small token of our appreciation," it reads.

Belton will be headquarters for a new 25-county area tuberculosis association which will begin its operation April 1.

Some 130 civic leaders, representing each of the counties involved, met in Temple Saturday and organized the new voluntary health association. Its name -- Central Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

At a meeting chaired by Dr. John Selby, Lubbock physician and president of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, the group was told that in order to eradicate tuberculosis, citizens must be eudcated to its prevention.

Dr. Selby commented that, despite medical advances in the field of preventing and curing the disease, the number of new cases found in Texas each year is rising. He also noted that "other respiratory diseases are reaching almost epidemic proportions. It behooves us as interested citizens to find out why this is true and to put it before the public so answers can be found." He mentioned particularly the increase in emphysema victims.

Cotton Production Meeting Planned

By J. D. Moore

The annual Milam County cotton production meeting will be held at the Thorndale High School Thursday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m. Fred Elliott and his cotton team from A&M will discuss chemical weed control, varieties, insect control and harvesting and ginning practices.

This meeting is sponsored by the Extension Service in cooperation with the Thorndale Farm Bureau. All farmers, fertilizer and seed dealers, ginners, and others interested in the cotton industry are urged to attend this meeting.

PECAN TREE CARE

All dead and diseased limbs should be removed and a dormant oil spray should be applied now and before leaf growth begins. For good growth conditions, fertilize in February or March with a 10-15-5 type fertilizer at the rate of 2 lbs per inch diameter of tree trunk. This may be applied by punching holes in the ground 6 to 8 inches deep. Alternate the holes around and under the limb spread and distribute the fertilizer evenly in these holes.

"Rosette" in pecan trees is the result of zinc deficiency. During the growing season a die-back condition is noticed at the tips of the limbs. To correct this use about one half pound of zinc sulphate for a medium sized tree by placing the zinc in the holes with the fertilizer. The zinc may be mixed with the fertilizer. In fact, this treatment is recommended to correct the problem in sycamore trees.

HONEYDEW ON PECANS

Beginning in August each year aphids (plant lice) infest all pecan trees. These aphids cause the "honeydew" deposit appearing on your automobile when parked under pecan trees. To avoid these aphids, treat your trees now with Disyston at the rate of 5 ounces per 1 inch diameter of tree trunk. In fact, you may safely mix the recommended amount of Disyston in with the fertilizer and zinc sulphate in order to apply the complete treatment at one operation.

CURRENT LAWN CARE

Control winter weeds in home lawns by spraying with 6 tablespoons of Silvex or 7 tablespoons of Endothal per gallon of water. Better results are noted when the temperature is near or above 70.

Apply copperas to correct yellowing of St. Augustine grass. There is a certain amount of "burning" that goes with the application of iron or copperas. To avoid possible damage, apply 10 pounds of copperas to each 1,000 square feet of lawn area before vigorous growth occurs.

If winter weeds and winter grass are problems in the lawn, wait until March to apply the fertilizer. An application of 10-10-5 type fertilizer at the rate of 20 pounds per 1,000 square feet of lawn area will make your grass pretty and green as spring growth begins.

Poage Introduces Bill To Aid Poultry Inspection Systems

WASHINGTON

Legislation to broaden and strengthen the existing poultry inspection systems throughout the nation was introduced Feb. 6 by Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., of the House Committee on Agriculture.

The measure would provide financial aid to the states to help them bring their own systems up to standards at least equal to those required under the federal inspection law.

Under the new Poage bill the federal government would pay up to half the costs an individual state would incur in establishing and enforcing on intra-state commerce in poultry products an inspection system with standards at least as high as those applicable on interstate commerce.

Drafting the legislation on lines of the original Wholesome Meat inspection bill which was approved by his committee last year, but which was amended by the Senate before becoming law, Poage said he believes better enforcement will result if the responsibility is left with state authorities in respect to poultry products handled wholly within a state's boundaries.

Several bills have been introduced proposing poultry inspection legislation modeled after the meat act as it became law on December 15. They would give the states up to three years to establish an inspection system which met federal standards, but would empower the Secretary of Agriculture to at any time impose the federal system upon any state whose local system he did not approve.

Gov. Connally Boosts HemisFair In NYC

HemisFair's biggest booster took the word on the April 6 - Oct. 6 World's Fair to New York City last week, and 300 top travel industry executives responded at a luncheon of the American Scoeity of Travel Writers.

Governor John Connally, commissioner general of the international exposition, combined the newly unveiled Texas travel trails with HemisFair, showing there is more to the Lone Star state than the six-guns and sagebrush portrayed by television westerns.

Connally used a series of slides to outline the off-the-beaten-path scenic routes which ofer visitors to Texas everything from the beauty of Palo Duro Canyon to deep sea fishing on the coast.

The governor used color slides of the various areas to invite the writers not only to visit HemisFair but to take time out for a side trip and enjoy the scenic natural and historic wonders around the state.

ASCS News

By Alva E. Sanders

A thorough review of the cotton situation for the current season and the anticipated supply for the 1968-69 years indicates no changes are warranted in the upland cotton program for 1968.

The Department of Agriculture had received a number of suggestions to modify the 1968 program in order to increase production. However, a summary of the cotton situation reaffirmed the forecast of a total carryover on Aug. 1, 1968, of about 6.5 million bales of upland cotton.

As during the 1967 crop year, it will be necessary for all farmers both large and small to sign up if they intend to participate in the cotton, feed grain, or wheat programs.

Signup for the 1968 upland cotton, feed grain and wheat programs got under way Monday, Feb. 5. Milam County participation for the first week reflected well over 100 applications filed daily, with the feed grain program leading in the number of applications.

participating in the feed grain and cotton programs will be continued in 1968. To obtain advance payment, the farmer applies for it at the time he signs up to participate in the program. Advances will be up to 50 percent of the cotton and feed grain acreage diversion payments. The county office began disbursement of advance payments Monday, Feb. 12.

Stillhouse Dam To Be Closed Feb. 19

On or about February 19 the Fort Worth District, Corps of Engineers, Fort Worth, will close the conduit gates and initiate impoundment of water in Stillhouse Hollow Reservoir on the Lampasas River in Bell County.

Col. Jack W. Fickessen, district engineer, issued the notice to the public to vacate the area and to remove all livestock and other private property.

The area upon which water will be impounded consists of government owned or government controlled lands along the Lampasas River extending from Stillhouse Hollow Dam upstream approximately 30 miles or about four miles above Youngsport, Texas. This area will be subject to rapid rises, especially in the lower reaches of the reservoir.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) for his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

You're bitterly cold, but see no sign of human habitation, mile after terrifying mile.

Then, thanks to someone who's already gone this way, you come upon a crude shack. Even with shelter you could still freeze to death, but you find wood already gathered for a fire.

Later, before venturing on, you too pile high more wood for someone yet to come.

No matter who you are—or where—your life marks a trail that someone is following. Along that way is the Church—a haven from storms of the world.

Yet the building alone is not enough. It must have people to work in it and to gather fuel for the fires of faith.

Begin today to support and strengthen the Church for those yet to come.

Car Inspections Lag; DPS Says Get Sticker Early

AUSTIN

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported that more than 4,250,000 vehicles still remain to be inspected for the 1968 sticker before the April 15 deadline.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS Director, said that only 1,574,397 cars had been inspected so far this year. The total number of vehicles inspected during 1967 was 5,702,862.

Garrison urged motorists to have their cars inspected as soon as possible in order to avoid the long lines which will undoubtedly develop as the inspection period draws to a close.

Garrison reminded car owners that under new provisions of the law the inspection will include front seat belts in cars where the anchorages are part of the manufacturer's original equipment, steering, and wheels and rims.

"Those motorists who wait until the last weeks of the inspection period to have their cars inspected may find that they will need to install seat belts," Garrison said. "And with the last minute rush, there may not be enough seat belt kits in supply to take care of the demand. Dealers will have no way of knowing how many sets to have on hand, so to be on the safe side we urge all owners to have the work done as soon as possible."

Countless hours of fishing pleasure are provided a considerable number of people by stock tanks or farm ponds.

Nowadays it is rare to find one of the diminutive man-made ponds that is not stocked with fish of various species.

A pond is not unlike a large impoundment. For the first few years of its existence it provides excellent fishing. Then it starts sliding downward. Fishing goes sour.

A common problem in a small pond is too many fish, rather than too few. Prolific fish reproduce faster than they can be caught. Soon the end result is a stunted population. Then most of the fish caught are small.

Some people have the idea that a fish must be a certain size to spawn. This is not true. Age, not size, is the determining factor. It isn't uncommon for even a four-onch bass to spawn if she is old enough.

Aquatic biologists recommend that no fish from a pond should be returned once caught. Yet most people find it difficult to keep everything they catch.

Bill Kuykendall, who owns a ranch near the small community of Kyle in Central Texas, has some ponds that offer excellent fishing. Bill keeps close check on his fish population. He even fertilizes the lake bed to grow more food for the fish to eat and he develops awuatic plants to help keep the water pure and clean.

"You've got to manage fish just like you manage cattle or other livestock," says Kuykendall.

A pond is an individual thing. No two are alike. For this reason, it is dificult to speak of them in generalities. Each one must be handled diferently.

Some ponds hold up remarkably well for many years. But others seem to start downhill within a few short years after they are built and stocked with fish. One fact stands out - every pond needs to be cleaned out periodically and restocked.

Jimmy Hefner is a former biologist with the old Texas Game and Fish Commission who now is in the business of treating ponds for farmers and ranchers.

According to Hefner, fish should be chemically removed from a pond at least every seven to 10 years. This is the maximum.

Most common chemical used for this eradication is rotenone, which is harmless to both livestock and humans. It eliminates the fish by suffocation.

When a pond is treated with rotenone, it is possible to save some of the fish, to return them later. But mostly it is wise to get a complete new stock of young fish from a hatchery and start all over again.

"Usually I can save the catfish in a pond by immediately getting them to fresh water once they come to the top," Hefner said. "But bass are almost impossible to save -- once the rotenone reaches their gills, they're through."

When used correctly the chemical removes everything, from sunperch to catfish and bass. On some larger ponds, a 100 percent kill may not be realized. But enough fish will be removed so that any young bass, sunfish and catfish put in will survive and grow.

Ideally, the pond should be treated about four weeks before it is to be restocked. This is ample time for all the effects of the rotenone to vanish.

Within a year or two, the pond will start producing topflight fishing again, and will continue to do so until it goes sour.

Then it is time to kill the fish and start over again.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

By Ronald L. Bailey

Donald Fleming, Ray Coward, and David McClaren showed steers in the San Antonio Livestock Show held February 9-17.

David's heavy weight shorthorn steer placed 3rd and his light weight 5th. Ray's light weight shorthorn steer placed 7th. Donald's heavy weight Angus steer was 12th. These 4-H'ers are members of the Countywide 4-H Club.

Donald, Ray and David have worked very hard with their steers for 12 months. The Beef adult leaders for the countywide club, Wayne Fleming and Shep McClaren did an outstanding job with the boys.

Daniel Richardson, St. Anthony 4-H Club; Charles Ansley and Mike Towery of Thorndale 4-H Club entered the Calf Scramble at San Antonio. There were 20 boys and ten calves in the arena. The calves had to be caught, haltered and led across the finish line. Mike, Daniel and Charles gave the calves a workout but the boys could not find the handle and the calves got away.

David will enter a steer in the Houston Livestock Show. Melvin Hollas and Wayne Jistel will show dairy heifers and Mark Davis will show an Angus heifer in the Houston show.
